

I am a big burger fan for Medonald, I love their Big Mac, double quarter pounder. And I have to mention that I don't like eating Burger King, not only because they are enemies of my favorite Medonal, but also because their meat is much chewy compared to Medonald's burgers meat. But things have changed after I took a look at this advertisement. I think it was released a few years ago, but it still shocks me today.

